1. The Borneo Evangelical Mission

SIB began as the work of the Borneo Evangelical Mission (BEM), founded in Australia in August 1928 by three young missionaries: Hudson Southwell, Frank Davidson and Carey Tolley. They came from Baptist, Anglican and Brethren backgrounds.

They reached Kuching in November 1928. The Rajah of Sarawak allowed them to work in Limbang, and the first big response came from the Lun Bawang people of the Limbang and Trusan valleys. Lawai Asi' was the first to be baptised, and Racha Umong believed on first hearing; he later became SIB's first President.

During the Second World War (1942–1945) all the missionaries were interned in Kuching, and Frank Davidson died in the camp. The churches survived because local believers kept leading them, which opened the door to local leadership.

2. The Gospel reaches Sabah

In April 1937, Hudson Southwell and Stafford Young made a survey trip through North Borneo (now Sabah), from Labuan to Tenom, Keningau, Tambunan, Ranau and Kota Belud. Stafford Young then began working among the Dusun of upper Tuaran.

A mission base opened in Ranau (1938–1939; sources differ on the year). Stafford Young was joined by Trevor White and later Alan Belcher. Few believed at first. One who did was Kuntuni (Kentuni Giwar), who kept preaching through the Japanese occupation.

Trevor White returned to Ranau in July 1946. The first baptisms were on 25 December 1946, and by the end of 1947 about 220 people from Nampasan and nearby villages had been baptised. The mission house at Takurik later became the site of SIB Pekan Ranau.

Southern Sabah was reached separately, by believers from Lawas and Indonesia through Long Pasia. In 1949 Bible-school students went to Sipitang, and the Tagal people of Meligan asked to be taught. Local leaders also planted churches; forest ranger Amin Gomboting started an SIB church wherever he was posted.

3. From mission to church

The first pastors' conference was held in 1952 with only twelve pastors. By 1955 more than ninety pastors and their wives attended, from the Lun Bawang, Kayan, Kenyah, Dusun, Kelabit and Tagal churches.

At the 1959 conference the church took the name Sidang Injil Borneo for the evangelical church in Sarawak, Sabah and Brunei, with Racha Umong as President. SIB was registered under the Trustee (Incorporation) Ordinance, Cap. 148, on 1 September 1962. At joint conferences a Sabah pastor usually served as Deputy President.

Ranau was the centre of SIB work in Sabah from 1972. On 10 December 1976, to follow government rules, SIB Sabah formally separated from SIB Sarawak "in a spirit of brotherhood". Its headquarters then moved to SIB Kapayan in Kota Kinabalu.

It became Sekolah Teologia Pertama (1974), Maktab Teologi Sabah (1993) and Borneo Theological Seminary (2018). It teaches in Malay, has 1,515 graduates and began a Master of Divinity in 2025.
